I performed in a piano concert yesterday. It was my third time, but I was still very nervous. Then, when I was on the stage, I saw my grandfather in the audience. I was surprised. I didn't think he would come, because I made him angry a few days ago. After the performance, I spoke to him. He was crying and told me that my performance was really good. I was very happy to hear that. I hope he will come to my next concert.
