Two weeks ago, Emma and I were going to have lunch under a cherry blossom tree. However, the rain changed our plan. She looked sad, so I wanted to do something special for her. She was going back to Canada soon. So, I went to a shop to find a nice present for her. Then, I realized the best thing I could do for her was to draw her a picture. I finished drawing the picture and gave it to her the day before she left. Emma said, "Wonderful! You drew a picture of me with the cherry blossoms!" We thanked each other and said goodbye at the airport.
